

DIGIEVER's National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA) & Trade Agreements Act (TAA) Compliance Statement

DIGIEVER, a world leading company of IP video surveillance management system, is delighted to announce our unwavering commitment to full compliance with the National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA).

Our dedication extends to providing comprehensive IP video surveillance solutions to clients across the United States and worldwide. Our stringent adherence to NDAA compliance ensures that every series of our Network Video Recorders (NVRs) and related products is free from any components restricted under NDAA Section 889. This commitment underscores our commitment to providing our customers with a wide range of NDAA Section 889-compliant options.

In addition to our NDAA compliance, all of DIGIEVER's products meet the requirements set forth by the Trade Agreements Act (TAA, 19 U.S.C. §§ 2501-2581). This designation signifies that our products are approved for procurement by the United States Government for its use.

NDAA Summary

The John S. McCain National Defense Authorization for Fiscal Year 2019, also known as The National Defense Authorization Act (NDAA), was signed into law on August 13, 2018 and made effective on August 13, 2019.

In order to prevent cyber-attacks from foreign adversaries which pose risks for the U.S. Federal Government and government-related facilities, Section 889 prohibits the purchase and use of video surveillance cameras or components manufactured by specific Chinese suppliers.

At DIGIEVER, we prioritize both NDAA and TAA compliance to ensure that our customers receive the highest quality video surveillance solutions that align with the regulations and standards set forth by the U.S. government.
